In 2019 American poetry concludes. In 2020 we start a new course on Great Poems in English. Class members will be provided with a set of class texts. An important element of the course is members' contribution to class discussion

There is no required background other than enthusiasm to learn. Our poetry discussion leads us into many interesting aspects of the life we share.

20LIT060: ADVENTURES AT THE END OF A PEN

Type: Long Course

Dates: 03/02/2020 - 04/12/2020

Frequency: Weekly, Mon 12:00 - 14:00

Location: Parkwood Classroom 4 35-39 Tortice Drive Ringwood North

Tutor: VIKI WRIGHT RIVETT

This busy happy class is for people who think about stories they are keen to tell but perhaps have not found the best way to do so. Some people are writing about events in their own lives or those of their ancestors or are venturing into novels or collections of short stories. There is lots of scope for experiment. Careful listening supportive feedback and surprising exercises encourage new techniques and directions. Viki is an author and adult educator who has a shelf of books and thick folders of published articles by former students.

Frequency: Weekly, Thu 10:30 - 12:00

Location: Parkwood Classroom 4 35-39 Tortice Drive Ringwood North

Tutor: JOHN LAWLEY

The Music Appreciation class has just started excellent courses on Ten Great Composers, integrated with a course on the enjoyment of Opera. The course involves listening to music as well as learning its history. The courses will continue throughout the year. The classes also involve a weekly "swoon" and occasional classes entirely comprised of members' choices about which they are invited to briefly talk. There may be occasional music excursions
